

APPENDIX A

February 2019 – consultation version

2.68 CCTV footage of an incident can provide an invaluable insight, providing an ‘independent witness’ to an event. This can assist in the decision whether to suspend or revoke a licence. The potential benefits of mandating CCTV in vehicles is discussed in paragraphs 2.104 - 2.106.

Duration of licences

2.69 The Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 (as amended) sets a standard length at three years for taxi and PHV drivers and five years for PHV operators. Any shorter duration should only be issued when the licensing authority thinks it is appropriate in the specific circumstances of the case. Such circumstances could include where the licensing authority considers that a probationary period is necessary or where required (e.g. when the licence holder’s leave to remain in the UK is time-limited) or when the licence is only required to meet a short-term demand.

2.70 A previous argument against this length of licence was that a criminal offence might be committed, and not notified, during this period; this can of course also be the case during the duration of a shorter licence. This risk can be mitigated by requiring licensees to subscribe to the DBS update service as discussed in paragraphs 2.38 – 2.40 and authorities to undertake regular interim checks. To help authorities monitor licensees’ suitability, police forces should inform licensing authorities when they believe a licensee presents a risk to the travelling public. Paragraphs 2.51 - 2.53 provide further information about this process.

Safeguarding awareness

2.71 Licensing authorities should consider the role that those in the taxi and PHV industry can play in spotting and reporting the abuse, exploitation or neglect of children and vulnerable adults. As with any group of people, it is overwhelmingly the case that those within the industry can be an asset in the detection and prevention of abuse or neglect of children and vulnerable adults. However, this is only the case if they are aware of and alert to the signs of potential abuse and know where to turn to if they suspect that a child or vulnerable adult is at risk of harm or is in immediate danger.

2.72 It is the Department’s recommendation that licensing authorities provide safeguarding advice and guidance to the trade and that taxi and PHV drivers are required to undertake safeguarding training. This is often produced in conjunction with the police and other agencies. These programmes have been developed to help drivers and operators:

- provide a safe and suitable service to vulnerable passengers of all ages;
- recognise what makes a person vulnerable; and
- understand how to respond, including how to report safeguarding concerns and where to get advice.

February 2019 – consultation version

2.73 In February 2018, the Department for Education (DfE) launched phase 3 of its nationwide campaign – ‘Together we can tackle child abuse’. Building on phases 1 and 2, which ran in 2016 and 2017, it aims to increase public understanding of how to recognise and report child abuse and neglect. The DfE has developed an online toolkit²⁸ of material for local authorities, charities and other organisations to use to support the campaign.

Other forms of exploitation – ‘County lines’ drug trafficking

2.74 Victims of exploitation may not appear as such at first sight. 74% of police forces noted the exploitation of vulnerable people (including children) by gangs and organised criminal networks involved in trafficking illegal drugs within the UK²⁹ to move and store drugs and money across the country, often from urban areas to regional locations. They will frequently use coercion, intimidation, violence (including sexual violence) and weapons. This gang activity (known as county lines), and the associated violence, drug dealing and exploitation has a devastating impact on young people, vulnerable adults and local communities.

2.75 The National Crime Agency’s updated annual threat assessment of county lines reported that county lines groups are using taxis and PHVs as a method of transportation. In that assessment, 33% of police forces in England and Wales (14 forces) reported use of taxis and PHVs to transport drug couriers between markets. These couriers are often young people who have been exploited and may be victims of trafficking; the typical age range is 15-17 years old, but may be much younger. They may have vulnerabilities besides their age, such as broader mental health issues, disrupted or chaotic homes, substance misuse issues or reported as missing.

2.76 Safeguarding awareness training should include the ways in which drivers can help to identify county lines exploitation. Firstly, they should be aware of the following warning signs:

- young people, sometimes as young as 12, travelling in taxis alone;
- travelling at unusual hours (during school time, early in the morning or late at night);
- travelling long distances ;
- unfamiliar with the local area or do not have a local accent;
- paying for journeys in cash or prepaid.

February 2019 – consultation version

2.77 The Home Office is working with partners to raise awareness of county lines and has produced promotional material that can be used by taxi and PHV companies.³⁰

2.78 Drivers (or any person) should be aware of what to do if they believe a child or vulnerable person is at risk of harm. If the risk is immediate they should contact the police otherwise they should:

- use the local safeguarding process, the first step of which is usually to contact the safeguarding lead within the local authority;
- call Crime Stoppers on 0800 555 111.

Language proficiency

2.79 Authorities should consider whether an applicant would have any problems in communicating with customers because of language difficulties. Licensing authorities have the freedom to specify the level of proficiency, but it is recommended to cover both oral and written English language skills necessary to fulfil their duties, including in emergency and other challenging situations. This should include:

- conversing with passengers to demonstrate an understanding of the desired destination, an estimation of the time taken to get there and other common passenger requests;
- providing a customer with correct change from a note or notes of higher value than the given fare, and doing so with relative simplicity;
- providing a legibly written receipt upon request.

Enforcement

2.80 Implementing an effective framework for licensing authorities is essential to a well-functioning taxi and PHV sector. These steps will help prevent the licensing of drivers that are not deemed 'fit and proper' but does not ensure that those already licensed continue to display the behaviours and standards expected.

2.81 We have discussed the benefits of licensing authorities working collaboratively in regard to the sharing of information, and this can equally apply to enforcement powers. An agreement between licensing authorities to jointly authorise officers enables the use of enforcement powers regardless of which authority within the agreement the officer is employed by and which issued the licence. Together with increased clarity for the public on complaining, these measures will mitigate the opportunities for drivers to evade regulation. Such an agreement will enable those authorities to take action against vehicles and
